WASHINGTON, January 6 .- [Special.] - Four

Georgia negroes have created a sensation in Washington. Their names are Pinckney, Al-stor, Henderson and Thomas. They came three years ago from Waynesboro, and entered

Howard university, to take a theological course, at the end of which they were to go as missignatics to Africa. Washington presbytery has been contributing one hundred dollars annually to their support, and other contributions have been given them. Recently it transpired that they were taking the regular university course; that they were not fitting themselves especially for the ministry; and that they had no idea of serving as missionaries after they graduate. A motion to withdraw the support caused an excited discussion in Washington presbytery yesterday and to day, during which charges against the moral character of the students were made.

Their case has been referred to a committee, are willing to make any combination to defeat Morton. His election, however, is considered very probable.

The president has about perfected his arrangements to leave for New Orleans on the 15th. He will pass through Atlanta next Senator Colquitt arrived this morning.

Senator Brown and family came to-night.

THE PENSIONS DEBATE.

The Members From Ohio Take the Principal Part.

WASHINGTON, January 6.—The house, at A REPUBLICAN SENATOR'S DOUBT-12:25, went into committee of the whole, Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, in the chair, on the pension appropriation bill. Mr. Hancock, of Texas, explained the provisions of the bill, which appropriated $59,-976,000, or $24,000 less than the estimates. There was some new legislation in the bill. He thought that this general legislation would

He thought that this general legislation would prove advantageous to the country.

Mr. Warner, of Ohio, inveighed against the abuses which existed under the present pension law in the matter of compensation allowed to the claim agents, and declared that the piracy of the middle ages was an honest calling compared with the operations of the claim agents in the city of Washington. They claimed to be friends of the soldiers. They were the kind of friends to the soldiers that wolves were to sheep.

Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, said at the last session the house had adopted a proposition to remedy the cylls existing, but the senate had refused to concur in it. In the conference committee legislation had been formulated, which was enacted into law, and under this which was enacted into law, and under this which was enacted into law, and under this law the abuses complained of by the gentleman from Ohio had crept in.

Mr. Warner, of Onio, replied in vindication of the action of the committee.

In the course of further debate, Mr. Keifer, of Ohio, having the floor, was interrupted several times by Mr. Warner. Mr. Keifer declined to yield, and expressed the belief that it was very unfair for the gentleman, who had con-umed nearly an hour in vindicating himself and his committee, to insist on interrupting and his committee, to insist on interrupting the other speakers.

Mr. Warner replied that he had not consumed as much time in vindicating himself as the gentlemen from Ohio had spent last session in attempting to vindicate himself.

Mr. Keifer asked the chair to have a good deal of forbergance toward the gentleman from Ohio, because it was constitutional with him to interrupt. In the discussion of the bill Mr. Keifer entered his protest against the whole system of pression claim agents, and whole syem of pension claim agents, and expressed his disapproval of the proposed reluction of pension agents from 18 to 12

The bill having been read for amend ments, Mr. Everhart, of Pennsylvania, offered a provise that all applicants for pensions shall be presumed to have had no disability at the presumed to have had no disability at the the time of application, and but such presumption may be rebutted. Adopted.

An amendment was adopted providing that the attorney's fees shall not be paid until claim allowed shall be paid by the government; pension agent fees to $19, except in cases where a special contract for a fee of $25 is filed, and restricting such special contracts to the agents and claimants residing in the same state.

Enthusiasm ran higher than it was ever wont On motion of Mr. O'Hara, of North, Carolina, an amendment was adopted providing that the mode and manner provided for the regulation for the payment of white pensioners shall apply to all pensioners.

The committee then rose, and the bill was all classes. That part of the remarks which The house adjourned.

THE NEXT HOUSE.

A Synopsis of Its Political Composition-

The Changes.

The Changes.

Washington, January 6.—John B. Clark, clerk of the house of representatives, has prepared an unofficial roll of the membership of the house in the 49th congress. The house will contain 182 democrats, 140 republicans, I greenback democrat, Weaver of Iowa, and I recomback republicans. I greenback democrat, weaver of lows, and greenback republican, Brumon of Pennsylvania. A vacancy exists in the 19th congressional district of Pennsyvania. Of the members of the present house, 187 have been re-elected.

Arkansas, Delaware, Kansas, Maine and West Virginia, have made no change in their representatives. Colorado, Nevada and Oregon, each, with one member, have changed their electric of the torrival delacates in the delegation. Of the territorial delegates in the resent house, only one, J. L. Caine, of Utah, returned to the 49th congress. Arizona and Vyoming, which are now represented by democrats, will send republican successors, while Idaho and Washington have elected democrats to succeed the republicans.

THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

The Annual Report of the River Commission

Before Congress. Washington, January 6 .- The annual reoct of the Mississippi river commission was ocday transmitted to congress. In speaking of the construction of works and referring to he flood which occurred in latter part the flood which occurred in latter part of February last, the commissioners say that the river remained high for a long period, and that little work could be done before the first of July. The damage to the work was, on the whole, less than might have been anticipated. The dykes sustained much less injury than had been the case in former years, which was due, no doubt, to the improved methods of construction which had been adopted. During the present season all of the damage has been repaired. Befering to of the damage has been repaired. Refering to the levees, the report assumes that no argu-ment is needed to attest the practicability of the levee system. It is thoroughly established by large experience, that faithfully construc-ted levees, of sufficient proportion and age to have settled and be-ceme sod-covered would resist any pres-sure. The commission recommends sure. The commission recommends the construction of new and the raising of existing levees along all parts of the river where the highlands are too remote to check the passage of large volumes of flood water, outside the bed of the river, or in other words, on the entire right, and also on the left bank below. Baton Rouge, and from the Yazoo river to Horn Lake, below Memphis. The commission makes the following estimate for the fiscal Horn Lake, below Memphis. The commission makes the following estimate for the fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1880: For surveys, $100,000; for salaries and expenses of commission and assistant engineers, $100,000; for the river from Des Moines to the Illinois river, $500,000; from the Illinois river to Cairo, $1,000,000; and between Cairo and head of the passes, including Red river, at and below Atchafalaya, $7,000,000; for the harbors at Columbus, Kentucky, $80,000; Hickman, Kentucky, $270,000; Memphis, $75,000; Greenville, Mississippi, $185,000; Vicksburg, Mississippi, $20,000; Natchez, $700,000; New Orleans, $686,600.

THE DISGRACED PAYMASTER. Charges Preferred Against Major Smyth

of the Pay Department.

Washington, January 6.—Paymaster General Rochester to day preferred charges against Major Smyth, paymaster, who left his post in Savannah, Ga., a couple of weeks ago, with $5,500 of government funds in his possession, and several days afterwards turned up in this city, and refunded the money, stating that he had been on a drunken spree. Just what the charges, as preferred, are, is not known, but General Rochester says that they cover all of Major Smyth's misdemeanors in connection with the drawing of the money of the bank, and his subsequent disappearance. They are now before the war department. of the Pay Department.

Washington, January 6.—Secretary Mc-Cullech has sent to the house of representatives an estimate of the cost of the custom service for the ensuing fiscal year. The number of regular officers and employer is estimated at 4,147, and their salaries at $5,295,139. The miscallaneous items amount to $1,160,623 The Treasury Estimates.

LOGAN'S SCALP.

His Adhesion Confidently Claimed by the Democrats and His Course Lamented by the Republicans.

-Fenator Ruger the Man Who May Settle Logan's Fate...

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., January 6 .- [Special.] Senator Ruger did not favor the republican caucus to-night with his presence. The report that he would act with the democrats in the organization of the senate has been partially confirmed by his conduct since his arrival here. To-day he locked himself up in his room and refused to see inquiring friends: Governor Hamilton obtained an interview with him, and says tonight that Ruger will remain true to his party. The democrats hoot at this assertion. One thing is certain, Ruger confides more to the democratic members than to the republicans, and the latter know but little of his condition, plans or circumstances, while the democrats are well informed. The republicans, as a rule, have lost confidence in Ruger to the point of publicly lamenting his course, and concede that there is serious doubt about him voting with them. The democrats, on the other hand, claim his undivided support, and say that although he is sick now, he will be well enough to help them organize the senate.

General Logan has been summoned here and is now on his way to watch his own campaign. His immediate friends are very much depressed by the sudden turn of affairs, and Springfield is in a state of tremendous excitement to-night. The politicians have the

THE LEGISLATIVE CAUCUSES Springfield, January 6.—The democratic house and senate caucuses of the Illinois general assembly met to-night. In the house, Hon. Edward L. Cronymite, of Freeport, Stephenson county, and Hon. Elijah M. Haines, of Waukegan, Lalla county, were placed in nomination for speaker. On the first ballot Cronymite, received, 39 vates and Haines, 32 nomination for speaker. On the first ballot Crenymite received 39 votes and Haines 32. Cronymite was declared the nominee. The democrats have only one majority in the house, including Haines, who has been heretofore an independent. Haines, it is understood, agreed to abide by the decision of the caucus. There is a rumor to which, however, very little credence is given, that the republicans think of nominating Haines for speaker, and thus obtain control of the house. In the democratic senate caucus Hon. se. In the democratic senate caucus Hon. Henry S. Eiter was nominated for president protem. The republicans have one majority

Year.
Chicago, January 6.—In an interview here to day Yice President elect Hendricks, #goaking of the recent campaign, said he was convinced that the proper mode of conducting a presidential contest was to discuss the politi-cal issues involved and not make an attack on the presidential nominees. He was not fully prepared to admit that the attack on General prepared to admit that the attack on General Garfield's connection with the DeGolyar paving contracts benefitted the republican nominee for president in 1880, as he claimed that the main fight on Garfield was on account of the latter's connection with the electoral commission of 1876, and was therefore a political issue and a proper subject for discussion. Mr. Hendricks alluded to the excitement attending the recent election of the democratic ticket, and said that for a short time after election day he believed a second protracted struggle like that of 1876 was in stere for him.

"It is very unpleasant, I can assure you," continued the vice-president-elect. "This is the urth time that an election in which I was a sandidate has been so close that both sides claimed it until the official count was de-

While not admitting that he was in the least posted on the members of President-elect Cleveland's cabinet, Governor Hendricks said he believed that the southern states should be represented among the president's advisors. He had received letters from southern gentle-men who had suggested the propriety of leav-ing out the south in the selection of a cabinet. In his replies he had expressed the opinion that such a course would be a virtual admission that the statesmen of the south were not ualified for cabinet position, an admission hat was wholly unwarranted.

Mr. Hendricks laughed over the current renort that his meeting with Mr. Cleveland had not been of the most pleasant character. He said he had no intention of interfering with any of the president's purposes, political or otherwise. Cleveland, he said, is regarded as a most decisive character, but this impression was gained more from his record as governor of New York than Governor Hendricks says, referring to his future movements, that he will not break his home in Indianapolis and remove to Was ington. His duties as vice president did not demand that sacrifice. He would probably take rooms at some Washington hotel, retake rooms at some washington hotel, the maining there about a month, or during the special session of the senate. At the long session, commencing in December, he would possibly take a house and set up housekeeping. He will remain in Chicago until tomorrow morning, attending to some private business, returning home in time to attend the session of the state legislature.

Judge Blodgett's Decree.

CHICAGO, January 6.—Judge Blodgett, in the United States court, this morning, decided a forcelesure of the mortgage held by the Union mutual life insurance company, of Con-Union mutual life insurance company, of Connecticut, against the Chicago university, for $150,000, with accrued interest and attorney's feee, amounting to $31,000 additional. He also dismissed an intervening petition and bill of the Chicago astronomical society, seeking to set aside the mortgage. The Developments Made Before the Springer Committee.

CINCINNATI, January 6.—The congressional committee examining into the appointment of the United States deputy marshals in this city, at the last October election, resumed the experiments of the Committee of the C amination of Marshal Wright this a.m. The general method of questioning was to read the names of the deputies appointed, one by one, and ask the marshal if he knew the mon, names of the deputies appointed, one by one, and ask the marshal if he knew the men, where they lived and who recommended him. Mr. Follett would ask if the witness did not know they were thieves, murderers and exconvicts just out of jail, or the work-house, and charged with crimes, etc. The witness, in most cases, could not recollect the persons asked about, nor who recommended them. He said it was possible that some men were appointed who were not recommended at all, though his aim was to get men qualified for the work. In reference to one colored man, he said he knew he was reported to be a bad man, but did not believe the reports were well founded. At any rate he was made well qualified to meet the emergency which called for the appointment of deputies, namely, and denger of repeating. He was aware that some of his men were not strictly pious, but in making his appointments he had regard to the elements his deputies would have to deal with. He had never heard of a single instance where any deputy had, in any way, prevented any citizen from casting a legal vote.

Mr. Follett asked the witness if he did not know some of his deputies were keepers of bawdy houses and low dives.

The witness replied that he did not know the meaning of those terms. In the appointment of so many men in such a short time, it would be difficult to get all with a perfectly dean history, and still be good men for deputy marshals at an election. The witness repeated that he made great effort to get good, efficient men, and most of them were such.

He admitted having appointed three deputies to serve in Reading, which was not a city of 20,000 inhabitants, and from which he had no written application. CLEVELAND RESIGNS THE GOV ERNORSHIP OF NEW YORK.

Lieutenant-Governor Hill Sworn In-Governor Hendricks Speaks on the Issues of the Day-The Illinois Senatorship.

ALBANY, N. Y., January 6 .- In the senate chamber to-day, before the opening of the session, the scene was one of great vivacity, the senators passing to and fro, extending the compliments of the season, or gathering around Senator Murphy's desk, which was embedded in flowers, whence emerged the red comb of a bantem game cock. At ten minutes after 11 o'clock, the lieutenant governor called the senate to order. Prayer was offered by the chaplain, Rev. S. V. Leach, in which touching reference was made to the death of the secretary of the treasury, Folger. All the senators but Arkell, Baker and Thomas responded to the roll call. Lansing and Jacobs, and Gilbert and Murphy were appointed a committee to notify the governor and the assembly that the senate was organized and ready for business. In order to allow the assembly time to perfect its organization, the senate then took a recess for one hour. IN THE ASSEMBLY.

The organization of the assembly was effected speedily, apparently with much less than ordinary public interest. There was a goodly number of spectators on the floor and the galnumber of spectators on the floor and the galleries were comfortably filled. The members arrived slowly, and at 11 o'cock, when Charles A. Chickering, clerk of the last house, called the assembly to order, not two thirds of the members elect were in their seats. Prayer was offered by Rev. Wm. S. Smart, D. D., of Albany. Then Secretary of State Carr took the speaker's chair, while his deputy, Colonel S. Wood, stood in the center of the floor, directly opposite. The members of the house were sworn in batches of S, after which they stepped behind the clerk's desk and signed the cath. There was a considerable number of absentees.

GOVERNOR HILL'S MESSAGE.

Governor Hill, in his message to the legisla-Governor Hill, in his message to the legislature, says:

"It may be safely asserted that the adminstration of Governor Cleveland for two years past, has more than met the just expectations of the people, and made its lasting impress on the annais of the state. It has been brilliant in its sterling integrity, safe in its true conservation, bold in its efforts for reform, faithful in its adherence to pledges and vigitlant in its opposition to corruption. Its straightforward and susiness like conduct, united with an unimpeachable honesty of purpose, has won for it and for himself the warm approval of his political friends, the sincere respect of his opponents and the unswerving and unselfish support of the independent cliticus government."

Hundreds of Negroes Suffering from Cold and Hunger.

Lawrence, Kansas, January 6.—The cold weather has caused much suffering among the poor classes in most of the large cities of this state, especially among the colored people, many of whom have recently come from the south, and are destitute. It is estimated that there are over seven hundred neople receiving aid, and of these six hundred are colored. It is estimated that if the cold weather continues a month longer, at least three thousand people in Shawnes county will be compelled to ask the aid of the authorities.

Praying for the Recovery of Blaine's Niece WILKESBARBE, Pa., January 6.—Sister Theresa, an inmate of the St. Mary's 'convent Theresa, an inmate of the St. Mary's convent in this city, and a niece of Hon. James G. Blaine, who has been dangerously ill of brain fever for the past two weeks, has had a relapse and is not expected to live. A few days ago her recovery was despaired of, but contrary to expectation an improvement set in, and up to this morning strong hopes of her recovery were entertained. The deepest solicitude exists among Catholic circles here, and this evening prayers for her rocovery were offered in all the Cath olicchurches here:

A Proposed Methodist University. LAWRENCE, Kansas, January 6.—It is re-ported, on good authority, that the Methodist Episcopal church is to establish a university somewhere in western Missouri or eastern Kansas. Topeka seems to be the place at present most favored for the institution. The l cal church offers to furnish the site, and a rich Kansas citizen is, it is stated, willing to give $500,000 to such a school if they will name it after him. The whole matter will come up before the conference of the church in March next, when some action in regard to the mat-ter will be taken. ter will be taken.

Who Plays a Wily Game Upon Unsuspecting

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., January 6 .- [Special.] A. F. Hawthorne and wife came to this city from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and stopped at a fashionable hotel. Hawthorne claimed to represent an extensive factory of paints in Pennsylvania. He was very lavish in his expenditures, and alleged to have lost $8,000 on Blaine's defeat. Since then he has been iiving high, and became the intimate friend of the leading young men of the town. Last week he caught several of his confidential friends, and claiming to be in need of funds gave them checks on the Lancaster, Pennsylvanis, national bank, and by this means secured a large sum of money from several cading business men. A telegram reached the city that Hawthorne's checks were worthless, and that he was an impostor. He lef the city suddenly last hight for Ciucinnati, and was arrested in that city to-day on a telegram. It is stated that he procured several thousand dollars in Chicago and St. Louis by the same

TWO NARROW BSCAPES. A Furnace and a Flour Mill in Great

Panger.

Chattanoosa, Tenn., January 6.—[Special.]
Last night a few brick fell from the top of the Chattanoosa furnace, and the gas burning through the furnace shell ignited the bridge leading to the hoist, and it was only by a sale that a conflagation was averted. The furnace will probably have to be relined, in which event it will be out of blast for four or five weeks.

This morning there was a short puff and a quick explosion, followed by a flash like burning powder, in the extensive flouring mills of C. C. Shelton. It was caused by an explosion of flour dust in the mill. The flames spread rapidly into the elevators and purifiers, and the mill seemed doomed, but by a fortunate chance the flames were controlled. The damage to the mill is between $1,500 and $3,000, covered by insurance.

THE CHICAGO SOCIALISTS. One of their Number Tells About their

Chicago, January 6.—According to a published statement, the number of armed socialists in this city is placed at 2,000. There are three different sections among the socialists of this city. Said one of the leaders yesterday upon being promised that his name should not appear in print: "There are the "Lehr und Wehr Verein," the "Bohemian Sharpshooters," and the "Jægger Verein." The largest and most important of these is the first named. When the law of 1879 went into effect, prohibiting us to parade in clead ranks with our rides, the "Lehr und Wehr Verein" had about 1,000 active members, clesed ranks with our rifles, the "Lehr und Wehr Verein" had about 1,000 active members, besides 500 reserves. Since then the organization has been kept up, but secretly. They drill now in halls, the location of which is changed with almost every new date of meeting. Within the past year the accessions to this society have been very large. As to their methods of military drill, the evolutions are taken from the German, French and American systems, some of the best features from each. Each man owns his outfit, rifle and all, and keeps it at home. Each man owns his outfit, rifle and all, and keeps it at home. We will have no armory. As to the "Bohemian Sharpshooters," they are e splendidly armed and drilled body, and tha same is true of the "Jaeger Verein."

"When will this threatened outbreak occur, you sak? Well, that's more than I know. But if things go on the way they have been going for some time, it won't be far off. You may be sure of one thing, we will not stantidly by and see working men shot down on the streets like wild beasts, as was done once."

AN ALABAMA IRON FURNACE.

A writer in the Griffin Sun tells the story of a distressing accident which took place in Pike county a few days ago. Mr. G. M. Rawls and Mr. James Whaley were in Jordan's store, and were handling an old rusty pistol that had lain on a shelf a long time and which was not suspected to be loaded. In attempting to cock the weapon Mr. Whaley let the hammer slip and the weapon dis-charged the ball, hitting Mr. Rawls in the throat, barely missing the collar button. Three doctors were summoned to see the wounded man, but after probing the wound thoroughly, they failed to discover the ball, which, in its course, was found to have slightly wounded a large artery, causing considerable blood to flow. Rawls is a young man of twenty-four years of age, sober and industrious as is Mr. Whaley, who was so unfortunate as to

In a recent fire in Savannah, while the firemen were at work a colored woman, who occupied a portion of the middle tenement, ran up to Chief Fernandez and told him that she had money hid away in the room on the second floor where some of the firemen were at work. A lad der was procured and the chief, piloted by the wo man, found a bureau somewhat scorched in one corner of the room. The heat had melted the rosin in the wood, causing the drawer to stick and resist the effort made to open it. An ax was procured, the top of the bureau removed and $4.00 in silver recovered. The woman said she had $50 more hid in an old crocus bag in the floor timbers under the eaves of the roof. One of the firemen, by getting on his hands and knees, succeeded in crawling close enough to the point indicated through the smoke and one-half of the unburned portion of the bag was pulled out and dropped at the woman's feet. "There's all that's left of it, Aunty," said the fireman; "don't look like a cool place for much money now." "El exclaimed the woman, who thrust her hand int the partially, consumed bag, and seizing a hand kerchief tied in a knot unrolled from it two-$10 bills. The other thirty dollars, deposited by the old woman in this out-of-the-way bank, had vanished with the other half of the bag-in smoke.

A ROMANTIC COUNTY,

Where Sheep Raising is an Industry and Nature Asserts Her Sway.

From the Excelsior, Ga., Pioneer. From the Excelsior, Ga., Pioneer.

Worth county is bounded on the north by Dooly, west by Flint river and east Dougherty, south by Colquitt and east by Berrien and Irwin. The last census gives it an area of 107,757 acres, of which 76 per cent. is timbered land. The timber is principally heavy forest of yellow pine. The portion bordering on Flint river contains some fine farming lands, but the remainder is, for the most part, ridges and springy hollows. The principal industry of the portions of the county off from the railroad, is stock-raising, supplemented by farming, generally on a small scale. Large flocks of sheep and herds of cattle and hogs are pastured on the native grass, and roam over the open woodland, requiring but little more attention than the marking, shearing of the sheep in spring, and the feeding of the cattle for a few of the severest winter days. Fine stock might very well succeed with the requisite attention, but I think the people prefer the native breeds that requires less attention. The turpentine and timber industries have increased rapidly in the last three years, contiguous to the R and A railroad. The town of Werwick. Worth county is bounded on the north b rapidly in the last three years, contiguous to the B. and A. railroad. The town of Warwick in the northern part, is situated near the Flint river, which is being cleared out, and it will (it is thought) take on a regular boom. The villages of Brookville, Toulan, Isabella, Sumner, Ty Ty and Hilsdale, all have either lumber mills or turpentine stills, and in some instances both. Isabella, the county site, is a beautiful village. Ty Ty is certainly the most tiful village. Ty Ty is certainly the most business place in the county. Worth county is well watered by Little river, Ty Ty, War river and Bridge creek, that head within its borders, and Flint river and numerous smaller streams that traverse it. The surface of the country is generally gently rolling, in some parts quite broken.

Fish are also found pientiful in some of the streams. The soil is red and yellow clay, and produces corn, cotton, potatoes, cane peas, oats, chufas, pinders, rye, rice and garden vegetables, but requires generous fertilizing and good cultivation. Fruits, such as apples, peaches, pears, plums, and melons do very well if properly worked. The principle wild truits are black and huckleberries, haws, persimmons and muscadines. The water is tree stone, though lime and other mineral waters are occasionally found. Wells are generally from 35 to 45 feet deep. The health of the county is very good. Fevers of a mild type are prevalent in a few sections in summer but are generally confined to sections. mer, but are generally confined to sections along the railroad, where the timber has been lately cut off and the tops still rotting.

Worth county, in common with Bullock and Worth county, in common with Bullock and other counties, pays a pro rata for educational purposes, generally (they say) amounting to about fifty per cent. Education is neglected nearly all over the county. The morals of the people are at a good average stand; churches of various denominations, chiefly Baptist and Methodists, are plentiful, and a large majority of the people are members. Off from the river and railroad there are very few negroes.

LUCK AT LAST.

The Good Fortune of a Party of Despairin Miners. From the Philadelphia News.

The death of Peter Whyte recalls the strange story of the founding of the city of Victoria, Aus tralia. In an Australian mining camp at one of the tents sat four men-the 10th of June, 1858talking earnestly of their future and bemoaning the past. For several months these four men had worked together in the same claim, sometimes getting barely sufficient for daily wants, some times not even for that. For several weeks, in deed, they had labored without any result. After a long discussion they decided to abandon the claim.

Down in the mine the three looked gloomily around, with a kind of sulky regret at having to leave the scene of so much useless toil. "Goodby," said one. "I'll give you a farewell blow." And raising his pick he struck the quartz, making splinters fly in all directions. His practiced eye caught a glittering speck in one of the bits at his fect. Stooping, he examined it and the place he had struck, when, with a loud exclamation. he knelt and satisfied himself that it was gold! He then commenced picking vigorously. His mates caught the meaning and followed his example.

In dead silence they worked on—they had discovered a monster nugget. Then a wild, glad hour sounded in the ears of the one at the wind-in dead stence they worked on—they had dis-covered a monster nugget. Then a wild, glad shout sounded in the ears of the one at the wind-lass, who had sunk into a half doze, feeling, proba-bly, the want of his breakfast. To his inquiry, "what is going on," the cry came, "wind up," and as he did so there arose to the surface a huge wass of virgin gold.

and as he did so there arose to the surface a huge mass of virgin gold.

When fully exposed to view the men were almost insane with joy. After watching it through the day and live-long night they had it conveyed in safety to the bank. It was named the Welcome Stranger, and yielded the fortunate discoverers of it $60,000. On the site of that spot the forest and the scrub have disappeared and their place is occupied by the finest city on the celebrated gold fields of Victoria.

DETROIT, MICH.

M. F. McLAURIN, General Agent. Rome, Georgia.

The increase of crop and maintenance of the fertility of the soil, are the objects of greatest interest to farmers.

The profits arising from farming are in exact proportion to the production per acre to the crop cultivated. The cost of planting and cultivating is the same whether he yield be little or much. As the PROFIT is found in the price realized over the first cost, it is of the utmost importance, to make every acre of land cultivated, yield its larges: possible product.

It is a fact beyond question, that the soil in the Cotton States is so exhausted from long cultivation, that it cannot produce remunerative crops without the annual application of proper Fertilizers.

How shall this exhaustion be replaced?

By the application of CONCENTRATED CROP FOOD----HOMESTEAD GUANO---containing all the elements of nourishment required by the crop being raised.

"HOMESTEAD GUANO" is made with BONE BLACK as the basis, is highly ammoniated, and specially adapted for southern soils.

This RELIABLE FERTILIZER is indorsed by every farmer who has given it a trial. In fact McLeroy vs. Sewell. Complaint, from Madison. Physicians. Pleadings. Set-off. Recoupment.

Torts. Contracts. Waiver.

Evidence. Witness. (Before Judge Pottle.)

Jackson, C. J.—1. Where suit was brought on a physician's account for services and medicine, it might be pleaded that he did not do his gover shiffally or a plea of recoupment. his work skilfully, or a plea of recoupment might be filed springing out of the contract; but a plea of set-off, based on a tort in giving defendant too large a dose of medicine, which injured him to the amount of two hundred dollars, was not proper as matter of defense; nor does it matter whether the defendant was insolvent or not.

(a). To state in a plea of set-off that an overdose of ipseac damaged a man $200.00, without stating wherein and how, is too loose, and does not set out the defense plainly and

2. It is not a good ground of defense to an action on a physician's bill that the physician had been intoxicated in the past, if, after such intoxication, the patient kept the doctor as his family physician for years. If these facts did not amount strictly to an estoppel or wayer, a charge to that effect was not such waiver, a charge to that effect was not such error as hurt the defendant or requires a new trial.

3. While it might have been well to admit a strength of the than physithe opinions of witnesses other than physicians, upon giving the facts and reasons for such opinions, yet, as the facts were all before the jury, it does not appear that the exclusion of such evidence worked an injury; especially when the opinion of no expert had been given in behalf of the plaintiff. (a.) The verdict was supported by the evidance.

(Before Judge Eve.)
Jackson, C. J.—Where a suit was brought for services rendered and the opinions of the witnesses sworn differed as to the value of such services, and the jury found a medium sum between the extremes of testimony, and the presiding judge approved the finding, this court will not interfere.
Judgment affirmed.

Hazzard vs. Mayor, etc., of Savannah. Case from City Court of Savarnah. New Trial. Practice in Supreme Court. (Before Judge Harden)

Jackson, C. J.—Where, a verdict having been found for the plaintiff, the presiding judge granted a new trial, and on exception thereto, this court refused to control his discretion and pronounced the case "exceedingly and where upon a second trial, the week," and where, upon a second trial, the jury found on the same facts a verdict for the plaintiff larger by seven hundred dollars than t was before, the presiding judge did not abuse it was before, the presiding judge did not abuse his discretion in granting a second new trial.

(a.) It is the judgment granting a new trisl to which exception is taken, and a reversal will not be granted because the presiding judge stated that in his judgment, under the facts, there could be no recovery.

Judgment affirmed.

Rankin vs. Merchants' and Miners' Transpor-Kankin vs. Merchants' and Miners' Transpor-tation Co. et al. Case, from City Court of Savannah. Master and Servant. Homi-cide. Damages. Actions. Stevedores. Principal and Agent. Pleadings. (Before Judge Harden). Jackson, C. J.—1. A declaration against a foreign corporation and a stevedore for the hom-icide of an employe, alleged as follows: The company paid the stevedore to load a ship; the gangway used in loading was its property, and furnished to the stevedore for that use; failed to provide proper guards and sideskids to the gang plank to prevent the de-ceased from from falling therefrom; "that de-ceased was standing on the gang plank, under the directions and by the order of the stevedore, or his agents, and was attempting to ease down over said gang plank into said steamship the said barrels of resin, which said barrels of resin the said (the stevedore), with the grossest negligence and without regard to the dangerous position of the said deceased, caused to be rolled down the said gang-plank in such great numbers and rapid succession that the skill and strength of the said deceased were totally insufficient to manage the same, the result of which was his being drawned in the river by the gross negligence. drowned in the river by the gross negligence and criminal conduct of the said defendants:"

Held, that no case was made against the

Held, that no case was made against the corporation. The mere employment of the stevedore, or contractor, did not make the company liable for an injury to one of the stevedore's servants; and the case falls within the ruling in 66 Ga., 145, and in 68 Ga., 839.

2. If it were clearly alleged that by the stevedore's orders and directions the barrels were precipitated so rapidly upon deceased as to cause his death, then this gross negligence, or disregard of life on the part of the employer in so ordering the fellow-servants of the deceased would amount to criminal negligence deceased would amount to criminal negligence and take the case without the rule in the cases cited; but constraing the plea most strongly against the pleader, it is not distinctly alleged that he precipitated the barrels himself or ordered others to do so; and there was no error in dismissing the declaration or demurred. (a.) No motion was made to amend or other-wise to retain the action against the stevedore

Jackson, C. J.—It makes no difference who attests the certiorari bond, but it must be accepted and approved by the justice who tried the case. If the bond itself shows on its face its acceptance and approval by the justice who tried the case, it is sufficient, though there may be no fertificate; but the record must show somewhere that such justice did accept and approve the bond; otherwise the certiorari will be dismissed. Printup, Bro. & Pollard vs. James. Com-plaintsfrom City Court of Richmond county. Evidence. Homestead. Charge of Court. Pre-umptions. Verdict. (Before Judge Eve). Jackson, C. J.—1. A memorandum not proved to be a copy of a lost book is not admissible in evidence to show its contents.

(a.) The rejection of a memorandum to refresh the memory of a witness, perhaps, did no hurt, as he swore to the substance of it; especially as the entries were not made by him, but by his wife, who was not sworn; and it is not apasrent how his memory could be refreshed by it, except by hearsay. 13 Ga., 508; 17 Id., 65; 64 Id., 243; 1 Gr. Ev., 22 437, 438.

2. Where a record of a homestead was introduced to impeach a witness by showing the omission from the schedule of the debt in uit, it was admissible for him to explain such onsission. 54 Ga., 222; 68 Id., 339.

3. The first two requests to charge are not without objection. The first was matter for the jury, and it would go too far for the court to tell them what was or was not a good refresher of a witness! The property of the court o fresher of a winess's memory.

(a.) A request to charge, which would amount to an opinion on the weight to be attached to the fact that the debt sued on was left out of the schedule accompanying an exemption taken by the plaintiff, was properly todays.

4. There was no error in refusing to charge, "that entering a new service raises a presumption of payment for previous services," on the facts of this case, if it be law at all. It is for the jury exclusively to determine what presumptions arise from the facts here. 49

5. The presiding judge being satisfied with the verdict, there was no abuse of discretion In refusing a new trial on the evidence.

2. Where free a person of color in possession of such a lot in 1884, having erected two houses upon it, left one moiety in possession of his wife and the in possession of his daughter, and the state never escheated the property until after the emancipation of slaves and the placing of free persons of color upon the same footing as white people in regard to real property, this possession is good against the claim of all others; and a verdict and decree giving to each one her share was right. 3. The decree is the more equitable because the complainant paid one half of the purchase money. Cases of this sort under the anomalous condition of such property remaining in the possession of persons who could not formerly hold title thereto, should be adjudicated under the broad views of natural equity.

(a.) There is nothing in the minor points made to change the result.

THE election for officers of Fulton county takes place to-day. Since recent primary election for nomination of such officers, opposition has developed against the ticket then chosen, after a fair and open contest. The fight which is now being made against Mr. Harris for tax receiver, and Mr. Haynes for coroner, is one that should have been made before the democrats of the county were called upon to select the ticket to be voted for to-day. At that time a contest within the party would have been perfectly reasonable. Now, it would be unreasonable for democrats not to stand by the ticket of their own making. There is opposition to the nominees for tax receiver and coroner. It is the duty of every registered democrat to go to the polls to-day and vote for the nominees of the party.

MR. CABLE'S "EQUITIES." Alluding to Mr. Cable's article on the negro in the January Century, the Nation says it is well that its publication was deferred until after the election; whereupon, the New York Tribune gives a sinister snort, and declares that it is a good republican campaign document. The Nation suggests as to a question of policy, the Tribune declares as to a question of fact. Whether it was wise to defer the publication of Mr. Cable's article is a matter for speculation, but the Tribude is right when it says that the article is a republican campaign document. It is exceedingly well written, but this is its limitation; nothing more than a republican campaign document can be made out of it, though this is undoubtedly very far from Mr. Cable's in-

The trouble is that he looks at the negro problem from the standpoint of a sentimentalist, and it is notorious that sentiment finds it convenient to ignore facts. The negro problem, as it is called, is a very practical affair, and it is not to be solved or dissolved by any applications of sentiment. Its solution is not to be brought about by any outside pressure, or by discussion, or by any inventions or suggestions of so-called philanthropy. The problem will solve itself, if it is to be solved, and the solution will be to the entire satisfaction of those most nearly concerned. No man can say what will be the result of wo races living side by side under the same overnmental system, enjoying the same rights and privileges, each, in a way peculiar to itself: but it is safe to say that the mixture advocated by Mr. Cable will not take place so long as the races remain as distinct as they are, and that they will remain distinct no man can doubt.

Looking at the matter from a purely political point of view, we should say that most of the injustice which the negroes have suffered since the war may be traced directly to the attempt of short sighted republican politicians to coerce the white people of the south into admitting the colored people into their theaters, their schools, and their hotels. During the reconstruction period, all the energy and activity of the republican politicians were bent and directed to bring about this result-reconstruction having this element of simplicity. namely, that it was a deliberate and an acknowledged attempt on the part of the northern republicans to demoralize and destroy the social organism of the southern people. We need not write here that the attempt was a failure. It was something worse. It gave rise to conditions and bred an irritation that ought never to have existed. But human nature is human nature the world over-especially at the south, and some irresponsible persons took advantage of the sorry condition of affairs to cut sad capers in various parts of the country. For this bad blood and irritation and this capering, the south will not be held responsible when history comes to be written. The responsibility will be placed where it belongs-on the knaves and partisans, who gave a bloody and peculiar twist to Abraham Lincoln's policy of peace and toleration.

Mr. Cable has the right to his opinions, and the abuse of him that we observe in some of our southern exchange is mere idle vaporing; but the so-called philanthropists of the north will be sadly mistaken if they take it for granted that his opinions in this matter are in any sense representative, or that the ideas which he advances are likely to grow and extend in this section. There is nobody in the south but will say amen when Mr. Cable proposes to give the negroes equal-rights and eonal accommodations. Already they have equal rights before the law, and they will get equal accommodations when their society becomes compact enough to demand them. The corporations-the public carriers-look on the whole question as a matter of business, and when the negroes make equal accommodations a matter of business there will be no trouble or delay in securing them,

But the mixture which Mr. Cable advocates will not take place. There is nothing practical to be said in favor of it, and the negroes do not desire it. On the contrary they lean entirely the other way. They are the readiest to draw the race and color-line. and every movement they make is away from Mr. Cable's propositions. They have their own society, their own schools, their own churches, and their own civil and military organizations. Moreover, in the cities, especially in Augusta and Savannah, there are society divisions of the most pronounced character among the negroes. What would Mr. Cable say in regard to the equities of the contest between the blacks and the quadroons?

Manifestly, Mr. Cable knows nothing of the real desires of the negroes, and nothing of the problem which he discusses so eloquently. He has simply allowed imagination and sentiment to blind him to the practical questions that underlie the whole matter. Our readers will bear us out in the statement that THE CONSTITUTION has always turned a friendly side to the negro. We have never hesitated to use our editorial columns in his behalf when such use seemed to be necessary, and we have always insisted that he should have not only all the rights and privileges of citizenship, but the friendly consideration of the whites. We have even gone so far as to coddle the negro; but we are frank to say that the white people of the south are not prepared to put in operation Mr. Cable's philanthropic scheme for mixing the races. More than this, the negroes are not prepared for it; and this lack of prepaation and desire on both sides, lends a touch fpreposterousness-so to speak-to Mr. Cable's carefully prepared article. Let the negro problem be taken out of the domain of sentiment and philanthropy. The colored man is no longer the nation's ward to be coddled and swindled by the republican party. He is now able to take care of himself, and we see signs in all directions that he is becoming something of an independent citizen. His future is in his own hands. He has but to insist on his rights to get them, and he ought to know, and does know, that good will of the white people of the south.

Y., Press arges the incoming democratic administration to levy an export tax on cotton, as the best means of obtaining a revenue. not from our own citizens, but from other nations. They must have cotton and cannot obtain it elsewhere. It is the only raw commodity that other nations must purchase from us. The cotton crop of the world may be represented by the figures thirty-five units, produced as follows: In the United States, 29 in the East Indies, 4, and in Egypt 2-total. 35. The small quantities elsewhere produced need not be considered. There are, 'again, 75,000,000 spindles in the world, and the United States has only 11,875,000, or onesixth of the whole number. Five-sixths of the cotton crop is turned into goods outside of the country that produces five-sixths of the raw product. Other nations must purchase over four-fifths of our crop or stop the mills in which a vast amount of capital has been invested, and upon which tens of thousands depend for subsistence. They must buy our cotton. "If," says the correspondent of the Press, "to-morrow morning a law goes into effect that places an export tax of forty per cent on all raw cotton purchased by foreign nations for export, and at the same time word is sent to all cotton manufacturers in the United States that every yard of cloth they manufacture shall be sent out of the country free. What would be the effect on our nation? If cotton is selling in our market at ten cents per pound, the foreigner must pay fourteen cents for his pound of cotton. This protects our manufacturers four cents per pound, which advantage will enable them to sell their goods in all the markets of the world where cotton goods are used. It enables our planter to sell sixty cents' worth of his cotton product for a dollar of a foreigners' money-or makes this nation the dictator of prices on its own product. There are only two alternatives left for Great Britain and the European continent-one is, buy our cotton at our own price, or shut down your mills. If they do not buy our cotton then their mills must stop, for they have only seven parts of the world's crop left for them to purchase. If

that they cannot compete with our mills, and then we become the cotton manufac turers for the world. When their mills stop their operatives are idle, and looking for employment. Then our agents should be in Manchester, Oldham, and other large manufacturing centres of Great Britain, and they should secure those operatives, take them to the cotton fields of the south, where the water flows with power enough to drive all the spindles of the world; there where you can pick cotton with one hand and deposit it in the factory with the other, with no transportation to pay on raw material. What nation on earth could compete with us, who have only one transportation to pay on the manufactured article? Where the motive power is water-costing nothing, comparatively speaking; when foreign nations must first go thousands of miles to purchase raw cotton, then take it back to be manufactured, then again transport the manufactured goods other thousands of miles to find a market, besides having to employ steam power to drive their spindles. An export tax on raw cotton will give us the markets of the world inside of six years. Besides we oring into the southern states and place upon the plantations a population of operatives that, besides consuming the planter's cotton, make a home market for his corn, bacon and other products, enriching the land by consuming upon it its products, in place of forcing those products out of the country at the price the foreigner is willing to pay. But, says the objector, Great Britain won't buy our cotion. She will go to the cotton fields of India and try and stimulate production. That is probably true, yet during our war she tried the same thing, and yet was obliged o pay our high prices. The facts are that nowhere in the world can so fine an article of cotton be produced as in this country, and we must ever stand at the top round of the ladder of cotton production. The most probable effect of an export tax on cotton would be that English capital would find nyestment in the cotton fields of our own country, where the grand and magnificent water powers of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama would be made productive, opening up for that section of our country a new era of properity." We present this plausible plan for the edification of our readers. It reads well on paper, but if carried into effect there would doubtless be a long and vigorous kick against our control of cotton production. The world would be ransacked for acres that would grow cotton. And in the end we might find that we had killed the goose that laid the golden egg. The goose is in no immediate danger however, and we present the scheme to elicit, more than anything else, comment and criticism.

THE October, November and December number of the "Southern Historical Society Papers" come to us consolidated in one number. The table of contents embraces numerous war papers and sketches of interest. ECIENTISTS, manufacturers and political econonists are all speculating upon the future possibilitics of electricity. It has been demonstrated that electricity is capable of conveying the power supblied by nature to a considerable distance, and it s believed that the distance may be indefinitely extending. No other force can be stored. Windmills stop when the wind ceases to blow, and when the water mill is closed the power that turns the wheel goes to waste. Converted into electricity, each turn of the sails or wheel can be made to store a given fore in vessels, which can be kept for an indefinite time, conveyed to any distance and applied to any purpose. A summer water fall could in this way be made to light the streets of a town hun dreds of miles away, during the following winter It is true that the boxes of reserved force are a present large and cumbrous, but no one doubts that a way will be found of storing larger force i smaller bulk. All that remains to be done is to practical account cheaply, and on a vast scale nears of gathering, distributing and applying the almost limitless force of nature. Electrical wer will soon become so common and cheap in all civilized communities that it will not only light every cottage, but slender guttapercha rope will supply to the housewife's domestic work com the power to run her sewing machine. In fact, the uses to which this new motor will be ap plied are too numerous to be intelligently con dered at this early stage. THE New York Sun states that a number of Scotch capitalists and speculators are berrowing money in England at four percent, and lending at through a syndicate to southern farmers at ten per cent. The Scotchmen have a good thing.

Dana's tortoise shell johnthomas cat. THE scheme for connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by means of a canal across the 1sthmus of Panama is no new thing. It has been considered for centuries. As early as 4528 Antonic Galvano proposed to the emperor Charles V. to open such a canal. During the reign of Philip II. plans and surveys were made with this end in view, but the monarch forbade anyone to carry out the project. The English next turned their attention to the matter, and the colin 1698 with the ultimate view of making it the basis of the canal enterprise. The scheme fell through, but toward the close of the revolutionary war, it was revived again. A route was surveyed under British auspices. Lord Nelson at tempted to seize and hold it, but was defeated by Spaniards and natives. About the opening of the present century the writings of Humboldt again revived public interest in the affair. In 1827 surveys were made direction Bolivar. Since probably twenty surveys have been made by lifferent nationalities. Of late years the cana projectors have been divided between the claims of three differerent routes, the Panama, the Nica ragua and the Tehuantepec. Louis Napoleon favored the Nicaragua route and once published pamphlet advocating it, but he had other things to think of after the revolution of 1848 recalled him to France. There is little doubt that this great highway between the nations will be constructed before many years. It may come in the shape of the completion of the De Lesseps canal, or the proposed Nicaragua route, or th Tehpantepec scheme, or even the ship railway project, but in some shape it is certain to come.

Macon, January 6.—[Special.]—During the recent election of county commissioners the main fight was made on the issue of whisky or no whisfight was made on the issue of whisky or no whisky. A prominent commissioner who stood for re-election, and the only one who was against whisky, was approached by a gentleman with a ticket, who asked him if he would not vote it. He glanced at it, and seeing his own name off, said no. In the conversation that ensued the gentleman said he had been sent to Macon by the liquor association of Atlanta, with expenses all paid, to fight the opposition. The commissioner said: "I am the man you came down here to defeat..." His surprise can well be imagined at the discovery. The commissioner was beaten and his defeat was attributed to this action on the part of the Atlanta liquor association.

WHISKY IN COLUMBIA.

The People Worked up Over the Present

State of Affairs. COLUMBIA, S. C., January 6.—[Special.)—
The liquor question is destined to make a enoise in Columbia before the new year proceeds much further on its march. There can be no doubt that a large majority of the citizens of Columbia are disappointed at the action of the city council in refusing to increase the barroom license to at least $500. It was generally thought up to the time of the meeting of the council that a large majority of the aldermen favored high license. The day before the neeting one of the younger aldermen declared that he was carnestly in favor of making the license could be a supported that he was carnestly in favor of making the license could be a supported that he was carnestly in favor of making the license could be a supported that the supported tha he was carnestly in favor of making the license not less than seven hundred dollars. Yet this same member fought the proposition to raise the license and was mainly instrumental in defeating it. When questioned subsequently about his inconsistent and faltering behavior he justified his course in the following words: "You people who are making all this fuss about my vote on the license question don't understand what you are talking about. I knew what I was doing when I fought the high license. If the high license had prevailed the city would in two more years be in the the city would in two more years be in the hands of the whisky men. A scheme had been concocted whereby George V. Allwarden, the whisky dealer, would be elected mayor of Columbia in 1886 and the board of aldermen would be composed of barroom keepers. The plan was batched and would have been carried out. Allwarden and Habernicht and several out. Allwarden and Habernicht and several of the moneyed whisky men were ready to furnish all the money to buy up the negroes votes. This is my reason far voting for a low license." It is said that several other members of the aldermanic board explained their action in a similar way. These aldermen must, however, entertain very erroneous and unjust views concerning the audacity and power of the whisky forces on the one side and the firmness and moral strength of their optonents on the other. Should such an issue ever be joined the result of the conflict would astonish the apologists and proponents of free whisky, or cheap whisky. Such a warfare does not seem imminent, albeit the liquor dealers, inflated by their recent triumphs, may ers, inflated by their recent triumphs, may

The Columbia club, a social organization, composed of some of the leading gentlemen in this city, is now the object of the liquor men's serious concern. The club has a "sample; room adjunct," or, in other words, a barroom, for the use of its members. Such drinks as the chuppen cryses were be bed in the room, for the use of its members. Such drinks as the clubman craves may be had in the rooms of the club any day in the week, Sunday not excepted. In this regard the club has the advantage of the barrooms, and the beauty of it is that it is not required to pay a license. At the meeting before the last the city council placed this club in the category of ordinary grog shops, so far as the license question is concerned. This occasioned great indignation among the club men who felt outnation among the club men who felt out-ed that they should be placed on a footing h ordinary liquor sellers. WHY MR. SENEY WITHDREW HIS RESIGNATION. NEW YORK, January 6 .- The differences between the majority faction in the board of directors of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad company and large holders of the consolidated bonds have been amicably adjusted. George I. Seney is the representative of large individual interests, as well as securities, held by the clearing house to secure the certificates issued by the Met house to secure the certificates issued by the Met ropolitan bank, was induced to withdraw his resignation as a director. Those who hold a majority of the consols agreed to fund their coupons for two years, and are to be allowed to elect at once seven directors, for whom places will be provided by resignations. Mr. Seney will constitute a majority of the board. The bondholders will also appoint a committee to supervise the execution of the funding scheme.

Mr. Tappan, chairman of the clearing house loan committee, was present representing the bonds held by the associated banks, President Olcott, of the Central trust company, trustee of the mortgage, and Mr. Isaac H. Balley, a director of the Metripolitan Bank and a bondholder, representing an enormous amount of the bonds, requested Mr. Seney to withdraw his resignation in compliance with the previously adopted unanimous vote of the directors. It was conceded that Mr. Seney and his fellow bondholders should name eight of the fifteen directors, thus giving them control, and they further stipulated that the lease of the Memphis and Charleston road should not be disturbed.

Railroad Building Last Year. From the Chicago Tribune,

The following account of new railway con-struction in 1884 has been furnished by the Railway Age of this city:

The number of miles of new railway constructed in the United States during the year structed in the United States during the year 1884 would have been pronounced extraordinary if it had been built six years ago, and yet it is small compared with any year since 1878. The returns, very carefully collected from official sources, show the total of new main line track added during the year to have been a little under 4,000 miles, which figure may possibly be reached by final returns. This is about 3,000 miles less than that laid s about 3,000 miles less than that laid n 1883, and about 7,600 miles less than the otal reached in the wonderful year 1882. It is also much less than that of the years 1879, '80 and '81, but, on the other hand, it far ex-ceeds the work of 1875, '76, '77 and '78. Con-sidering the general condition of the country, the new mileage added in the last year was enough: and yet, with the exception of a few parallel and unnecessary lines, it cannot be said that railway-building has been overdone. In general, the roads built were needed for the development of the regions which they enter, and there is room for a vast amount more of new construction of this charactor.

The following is a statement of the new mileage added in the different states and territories, arranged by what may be called the nine natural geographical subdivisions of the country. It should be understood that these figures show main lines only, and do not include sidetracks or second-tracks, of which many miles have been laid. The intention also is to report only the mileage actually laid down since January 1, 1884, and hence we have thrown out a considerable number of miles officially reported to us as built during the last year, but on which we know the rails to have been laid in 1883, and which were included in the report

Total in 42 (of the 47) States and ter's. 185

It will be seen that the railway mileage was increased during—the year in every state except the little, finished commonwealths of New Hampshire and Rhode Island, and the inhospitable mountain land of Nevada, and in every territory except the Indian country, which is still strangely sealed by legislation against the inreads of civilization, and Wyoming, whose mountain wastes offer few induceagainst the inroads of civilization, and wyoming, whose mountain wastes offer few inducements to the railway-builder. The states and territories showing the greatest addition to their mileage are Iowa and Minnesota, each 279 miles, Dakota 269, Pennsylvania 252, Mississippi 246, Wisconsin 224, and Oregon 218. In the others the increase runs from 4 to 160

In the others the increase runs from 4 to 160 miles. The number of lines reported is 186, against 257 last year, and the average extension is only a little over 20 miles to each road. The fellowing table shows the comparative railway mileage for ten years:

Miles Total Year, built mileage. Year, built mileage. Year, built mileage. Year, 575. 1,712 74,996 1889. 7,114 93,414 1876. 2,712 76,898 1881. 9,789 103,242 1877. 2,281 79,089 1882. 11,596 114,381 1878. 2,687 81,776 1883. 6,870 121,592 1879. 4,721 86,497 1884. 3,870 125,462 It will be seen that in the last ten years our railway mileage has increased more than 51,000 miles, or nearly 70 per cent, and that the total mileage of the United States is now, in round numbers, 125,500 miles. Mr. Blaine's Unpaid New Year's Call. WASHINGTON, January 6.—Mr. Blaine, as is well known, did not call at the whitehouse on New Year's day, Since then it has come out that Mr. Blaine called on all the members of the Cabinet who are known to have been friendly Cabinet who are known to have been friendly with him in the last campaign, but he failed to pay his respects to those whose ill-disguised hostility to him is only too well known in other words, he called at the houses of Secretary Chandler, Secretary Lincoln, Secretary Teller and Secretary McCulloch, but he did not visit at Mr. Frelinghuysen's or Mr. Brewster's or Mr. Heston's.

ster's or Mr. Hatton's. The Wrightsville Railroad

DUBLIN, Ga., January 6 .- [Special.]-Civil Engineer Pou, who is making the survey for the Dublin and Wrightsville railroad, is in the city to day. He informs us that the survey will be completed by the 7th inst. Captain Thomas, one of the directors, has severed the convicts of Mr. Smith, of Oglethorpe county. They will "break cirt" on the 10th instant. The people are periodly jubilant over the idea of having a railroad built to the town in the near future.

Raising the Salaries.

Chattanooga, Tenn., January 6.—[Special.]—
The county court to day raised the judges' salary to $1,200 per year, and the school superintendents to $600 per year. A resolution passed that a committee be appointed to memoralize the legislature to secure new legislation for a more liberal policy on roads and schools in the county.

RATEREE RUNS.

AN OLD ATLANTA BOY WANTED

George Rateree Goes to Alabama—He Gots Into Trouble and Comes Back Home—He is Arrest-ed and Imprisoned—The Alabama Shor-iff Will Come—Rateree Escapes.

George Rateree, who has been confined in the city prison since last Friday awaiting the arrival of an affidavit and requisition from Alabama, yesterday escaped from Chief Connolly and Sergeant McWilliams.

Rateree was born and raised near East Point, but several months ago went to Alabama, where he got into trouble. In order to avoid arrest Rataree skipped out and came back to Atlanta, where he has been for several weeks. About ten days ago Captain Couch received a letter from the the sheriff of Cleyburn county, Ala., asking him to arrest Rateree. In the ty, Ala., asking him to arrest Rateree. In the letter the sheriff stated that he had two bench warrants tor Rateree, and that he would come for him as soon as he was arrested. The letter indicated that Rateree was wanted very badly by the Alabama sheriff, and Captain Couch being a personal friend of the sheriff set out to arrest Rateree. The captain soon succeeded in ascertaining that Rateree was in Atlanta and at once instructed his patrolmen to pull him. Friday night last Patrolman whit Mercer ran upon Rateree in Jamestown, and quickly landed him in the city prison. The next day the Alabama sheriff was informed that Rateree had been arrested, and in a day or two he an-

Alabama sheriff was informed that Rateree had been arrested, and in a day or two he answered the communication, instructing the Atlanta authorities to hold him until a requisition could be secured. Early yesterday morning Rateree employed an attorney to sue out a writ of habeas corpus. The writ was obtained, and in the afternoon Rateree was taken before a judge for a hearing. Chief Connelly and Surgeact M.William.

Chief Connolly and Surgeant McWilliams guarded Rateree to the court 100m, and after the case had been argued, were satisfied completely when the judge remanded the prisoner to Chief Connolly's custody to await the arrival of the Alabama sheriff. After hearing the decision Chief Connolly and Sergeant McWilliams left the court was the prisoner to the court was the first than the court was the court of the court was the court of the roam with Rateree intending to conduct him back to the city prison. Their prisoner was walking between them, but the instant the trio reached the front door of the court house Rateree made a sudden and rapid break for liberty. With a single leap he sprang down the flight of steps and in a second was flying down Pryor street. The chief and the sergeant gave chase, but Rateree was too fleet of foot and soon disappeared from view. Chief Connolly then returned to the city prison out of breath and out of heart, and started the mounted men in pursuit of Rateree, but he was too far gone even for a horse to catch him.

HOME TESTIMONY

Prof. H. C. White

STATE CHEMIST.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA Chemical Laboratory.

Office of State Chemist, ATHENS, Ga., June 26, 1884. I have been familiar for a number of years with the general character of Prof. Horsford's phosphate preparations. Recent examinations made by me of the "Acid Phosphate" and "Bread Preparation," show them to be exactly what is claimed for them in the circulars accompanying the packages. The "Acid Phosphate" is a concentrated solution in water of Acid Phosphate of Lime

"Bread Preparation" is a mix-of Acid Phosphate of lime, ture of Acid carbonate of soda and flour. When mixed with water, carbonic acid gas is liberated and a double phosphate of lime and soda is formed and remains in the bread when baked. In ordinary cream of tartar baking powders the substance left in the bread after "raising" is rochelle saits—a double tartrate of soda and potash. The phosphates are usefu mineral substances in animal nutrition and growth, the tartrates are not. In my opinion the Phosphatic Powder is, therefore, preferable to the others, so far as healthful ness is concerned. H. C. WHITE.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. ' Features of the Speculative Movements in Grain and Produce.

By telegraph to The Constitution. CHICAGO, January 6-The wheat market to-day was nearly the reverse of yesterday. February opened %c and May %c lower and both declined %@le more under vigorous selling by many parties who have lately been buyers. At about 2c de cline, however, from the highest point yet reached offerings were readily absorbed, and the market steadied and became rather slow. Orders from the outside are still to buy. Liverpool reported a good demand, and Mark Lane had an upward tendency with California off coast 1s per quarter higher, red winter 6d better and American spring s better. California on passage was also is per narter higher, while American spring for prompt shipment was 1/d higher. The posting of the visible supply showed an increase of 272,000 bushels during the past week, although the New York estimate made out a decrease of 15,218 bushels. Re-ccipis for two days were 315 cars, against 135 cars

Corn was not as active or as weak as wheat, although the visible supply showed an increase of 523,000 tushels, while the New York estimate made it over 160.000 bushels more. Liverpool was weak-er and 1/1d per cental lower. Receipts for two days were 477 cars, against 208 yesterday, and out of this number only 159 graded No. 2, or better. This shows a large falling off in the percentage of contract grades. The entire fluctuation in corn today was only 1/4c, and that was in May. Oats declined 1/2%c for near options, but May remains comparatively steady under the fact of a decrease of 155,000 bushels last week in the visible supply, and the additional fact that the total amount of oats now in sight is little more than 2.000.000 bushels.

February pork opened 12%c lower at $11.65, sold p to $11.82% and back to $11.72%. February lard opened 5c lower at $6.85 and followed the cour

BREWER'S LUNG RESTORER!

Another Voice Singing its Praise! Another Voice Singing its Praise!

I (My health, which had previously been all that I could desire, became so impaired from a cough which I contracted, and continuing to grow worse, I became almost helpless. I exhausted the catalogue of so called remedies without relief and finally concluded that I was a victim of consumption and could but suffer its ravages the rest of my days. In my great distress of mind and body, a friend recommended Brewer's Lung Restorer, and after using a small quantity, I felt that I had at last found the true remedy for the disease, and persevering in its use, my health has improved so rapidly that I feel like praising the name of the discoverer of this great remedy, and would be glad if every one who suffers as I did could know of its healing virtues.

MRS. M. A. GRIMES, Macon, Ga.

Macon, Ga.

This is to certify that my daughter, Louisa J. Wigglus, who is now in her twentieth year, has been affected since infancy with a severe cough and difficulty of breathing. She has been under the treatment of several physicians, and no benefit arising from their prescriptions, she then began using the different kinds of patent medicines, none of which benefited her in the least. She was considered by all who knew her to be in the last stage of consumption and we had almost despaired of her life. During the past winter she was prevailed upon to try Brewer's Lung Restorer, and after taking three bottles, SHE GAINED THIRTY POUNDS IN WEIGHT, can go where she pleases and attend to any ordinary domesti affairs. We write this, hoping that others who are similarly afflicted will take courage and try Brew er's Lung Restorer.

er's Lung Restorer.
MRS. TABITHA WIGGINS, Lithonia Ga. We have never known a remedy that gave such entire satisfaction as Brewer's Lung Restorer and where ever it has once been introduced the sale of the article is simply wonderful. We do not attribute this to advertising so much as we do to the fact that all who take it tell their friends about its miraculous effects and we believe it has a larger sale in this way than any other throat and lung remedy known. This proves the efficacy of the medicine. It is entirely vegetable and can be given to infants in the prescribed doses with the best results in whooping cough, eroup, bronchitis. Weak and punny children thrive rapidly on it and no mother should be without it. LAMAR, RANKIN & LAM R Macon

"But it is not true that he inherited the estate, is it?"

"No. Governor Stephens left ten thousand dellars to the children of his brother, Judge Linton Stephens, and I think it will take all that can be raised to pay off that bequest."

Colonel Stephens was asked what progress had been made with the memorial school at Liberty Hall. He replied that only $1,000 fad been paid on the place, and $1,500 is due and unpaid. Governor Stephens' remains are still in the vault at Oakland cemetery.

Pass a Pleasant Evening.

The members of the Atlanta lodge No. 20 Knights of Pythias will long remember last night as one of the pleasantest and most enjoyable in the history of their lodge room.

One week ago last Tuesday night the Atlanta lodge had a spirited and warmly contested election for officers for the present quarter, and last night the officers chosen at that election were inducted into office. The installation was had with closed doors, but the attendance was exceedingly large—nearly every member of the order in Atlanta being present. The lodge room, which is located on Whitehall street, at the corner of Hunter, had been beautifully and artistically decorated for the occasion. The installation ceremony of the Knights of Pythias is beautifully and artistically decorated for the occasion. The installation ceremony of the Knights of Pythias is beautiful and impressive, and nover appeared to a better advantage than last night when District Deputy Grand Chancellor J. M. Hunnicutt installed the following officers:

Chencellor commander. John Y. Dixon; vice chancellor, H. M. Patterson; prelate, Joseph W. Fied; keeper of records and seal, G. W. Shelverton; master of exchequer, Dr. W. C. Jarnagin; master of finance, Frank A. Hilburn; master at arms, Henry-Yele; inner guard, W. C. Dickson; outer guard, R. L. Mahaffey.

The reports of the various committees indicated that the lodge was in a flattering condition financially. The reports showed that the membership was constantly increasing. After the ceremony at the hall the members were entertained with a basket of champagne and a few boxes of Key West cigars. pagne and a few boxes of Key West cigars.

Cal Wagner Last Night. DeGive's was well filled last night, Cal Wagner's minstrel show being on the boards. Wagner has appeared to much better advantage than in this engagement, and was a source of disappointment engagement, and was a source of disappointment to his many admirers. There are some good artists in the company; the majority, however, falling below the average. The "Premier Lexicon du Concent" was fairly presented—the jokes being smusing, some of them original. Master Louis Purr ell should not be allowed on any stage until he gets a voice. Thomas Word proved a sure enough rival to McNish in his quiet fun, and Billy Carter was of medicore ability on the banjo. STEWART & CO. ASSIGN.

WHITEHALL STOVE HOUSE FINANCIALLY EMBARRASSED.

. P. Stewart & Co., the Stove and Tinware Merchants, Find it Impossible to Meet Their Paper and Make an Assignment—Their Assets Larger Than Their Liabil ties.

A. P. Stewart & Co., dealers in tinware and stoves at No. 9 Whitehall street, made an assignment yesterday for the benefit of their creditors.

The bill of assignment was drawn Monday by Mr. Hoke Smith, and went into effect yesterday mornings Mr. R. H. Knapp is named as the assignee, and the inventory of assets and liabilities indicate that every dollar the firm owes will be 'paid. The assets are about $35,000, and the liabilities fully ten thousand dollars less than the assets. The assets consist of stock on hand and notes and accounts due the firm. The house is now well supplied, and if the goods could be disposed of at market value the sum thus realized would almost pay the firm indebtedness. The creditors are foreign with a few exceptions. The assignment was sudden and created somewhat assignment was sudden, and created somewhat of a sensation in commercial circles yesterday when it became known. Even to Mr. Stewart it was rather unexpected, for on Saturday morning last he had no idea that he would be compelled to take the step. One of the firm's heaviest creditors is an eastern house to whom A. P. Stewart & Co., are indebted in the sum of several thousand dollars. The evidence of the debt is the promissory note of A. P. Stewstt & Co. That note fell due Saturday, and the payees demanded full payment. Several the payees demanded full payment. Several days before the note became due Mr. Stewart ascertained that it would be impossible for him to pay it and began negotiating for a re-newal. He thought at one time that he had succeeded and when the creditors informed him Saturday evening that they could not extend the papers and demanded full and prompt payment, Mr. Stewart saw that he had an impossible task before him, and in order to protect all creditors alike, made the assignment. Mr. Smith, acting as attorney for A. P. Stewart & Co., has prepared and mailed to every creditor a letter. That letter is a complete and carrielly com-

That letter is a complete and carefully compiled history of the condition of the firm financially. It contains an accurate statement of the liabilities and assesses and invites every creditor allike to come in and co-operate with the assignee in the management of the business. management of the business.

The notes and accounts due the firm are nearly all good, but on account of the stringency in the money market the firm has been unable to collect. Had collections been posunable to collect. Had collections been possible the firm would have been able to meet its papers Saturday. Mr. Stewart feels confident that he will be able to pay every dollar he owes, and is willing for his creditors to conduct his business to that end. He has many friends in Atlanta, who will be pained to learn of his financial embarrassment, and who will be glad to see him again untermonelled. to see him again untrammelled.

MAYOR HILLYER'S FIRST DAY. He Goes to His Office and Begins His Official Duties. cial Duties.

Mayor Hillyer's first day in office was a quiet one marked by no event that will form a part in the history of his administration.

The mayor arose yesterday morning at the usual hour, and after breakfast walked leisurely to the mayor's office. The janitor who served ex-Mayor Goodwin through his admin-istration was on hand, and had a bright, cheer-ful fire in the grate. Mayor Hillyer was soon the recipient of many congratulations, a great many of his friends and admirers calling to praise his inaugural address and to wish him a pleas-ant, prosperous and wise tenure of office. The day's mail was light and contained no com-munication of importance. During the day several persons called to ask for relief and one person, a mute boy, was granted transporta-tion up the Air Line road. The composition of Mayor Hillyer's committee was freely discussed throughout the city yesterday, and his selections were generally indorsed and declared wise and judicious Now that the reins of the city government, are farely in the hands of the new administration, it may be well for the public to know. tration, it may be well for the public to know what will become of the gentlemen who have Ex-Mayor Goodwin will resume the practice Ex-Mayor Goodwin will resume the practice of law, and will remain out of politics, at least until next July. At that time the city general council will be called upon to elect city officers, and it is more than likely that ex-Mayor Goodwin will be a candidate for city attorney.

Ex-Alderman Healey will go back to his private life, fully satisfied with his three connection with the race.

Judge Pendleton, the present assistant atterney, will likely be a candidate for attorney.

Mr. E. A. Angier, the present attorney's name, has been mentioned too, but it is said that he wants another "sit." As has been stated, Messrs. Goodwin and Gray will probatated, Messrs. Goodwin and Gray win probably be in the race too.

There are three candidates for auditor and recorder. Mr. J. A. Anderson, the present auditor, will willingly serve again. Mr. Frank A. Small declares that he wants the place. Mr. E. A. Angier, it is said, would rather be recorder than city attorney.

The commissioners asked the applicants to The commissioners asked the applicants to present themselves so that they might be seen before being selected for police work. The men congregated in the commissioners' room where they were seen and questioned by the commissioners. The crowd was a motley one. The old man, the young man, the tall man, the short man, the light man, the heavy man, the smart man and the lazy man was present, and each one wanted a place. The commissioners questioned and then dismissed them. One commissioner approached a large, fine looking applicant and asked:

"Do you drink?"

"Do you drink?"
"That's none of your business," was the reply.

"Are you married?" the commissioner asked "Are you married?" the commissioner asked smilingly.
"Well, I'll swear. Now see here, pard, if I had known I was going to be asked all these questions I just wouldn't have come up here," and as the applicant delivered this remark he picket up his hat and took his departure.

A WAR EPISODE.

A Book Returned After Many Years ... An Interesting Bit of History. The Indianapolis Journal has this item, the ady mentioned being Mrs. Lewis H. Clarke, Ane indianapolis Journal has this item, the lady mentioned being Mrs. Lewis H. Clarke, of this city:

Rev. Joseph Cotton, pastor of the M. E. church, Southport, was the chaplain of the Thirteenth regiment indiana volunteers (Old Guard). This regiment was the first three-years regiment mustered into the service, and left this city for the front July 4, 1861. Many citizens now living here can well remember their departure from "Camp Sullivan," now "Military Park," July 11, 1861. A week, to a day, from the time of their departure, this regiment participated and took a conspicuous part in the battle of Rich-Ymountain, where the Righth, Tenth and Thirteenth Indiana, and Nineteenth Ohio regiments distinguished themselves by executing a "rear movement," under command of their colonel, W. S. Rosecrans. The union troops were victorious, capturing the army of the rebel general, Pegram. Their entire camp equippage, everything, fell into the hands of the union troops. Chaplain Cotton found in one of the tents of the enemy a little prayer book, with the inscription: "From Mrs. Mary A. Meade to David H. Meade. Woodley, Virginia." After keeping the book twenty-three years the thought struck the chaplain that he would find out if any of the family were still living, and would, if desired, send the book back as a momento of the late unpleasantness, which brought forth the fallowing corresbook back as a momento of the late unpleasant ness, which brought forth the following corres

"EUFAULA, Ala., November 29, 1834.—Rev. J.
Cotton, Southport, Ind. Dear Sir: Your postal card, after having gone through Virginia, has been forwarded to myself through the propersource. The book which you refer to, and which I should prize so highly, was presented to my brother by my mother, both of whom are deadmy brother dying of wounds received in the confederate army. Woodley is the name of our old home in Virginia, and not a postoffice, as you thought. Our name is 'Meade,' and we are related to General Meade, of Gettysburg fame. It seems strange that after so long a time I am to fall heir to the little souvenir, so much coveted. Please forward it to me by mail, and whe tever the postage may be I will return to your address. Thanking you for your kindness,
I am respectfully.

The book was duly forwarded and most gratefully acknowledged. Chaplain Cotton, who has now been forty-three years consecutively in the M. E. church, will retire in 1885 and has accepted an invitation to visit the section where the relie in question now is safely stored.

FINE TENNESSEE BEEVES.

D. Tye & Bro. Receive a Shipment that Attracts a Great Deal of Attention Yesterday Messrs. D. Tye & Ero. received a remarkably fine lot of beeves from Tennessee. They attracted a great deal of attention wherever seen, and were perfect wonders in their fine shape and good condition. Thirteen of them averaged 1,500 pounds apiece, and the others came within a few pounds of that notch.

There was a great amount of comment on the fine appearance of the beeves and the universal verdict was that no finer ones ever came to At-

A CONSTITUTION man asked Mr. Tye what he was going to do with the flue beeves. He said:
"We will butcher them, and Atlanta will the luxury of real fine Tennessee beef."
"When will they be cut?"
"We will begin right away, and our patrons can find us at our old stand on Whitehall."
